

5% deposit?

Make your next move with Help to Buy

Are you a First Time Buyer, tired of paying rent, who can afford mortgage payments but can't afford a deposit of more than 5%? Now could be a great time to get on the property ladder and own your first home.

Or do you already own a home but feel trapped because the value of your home has not increased and so you can afford only a 5% deposit on your next place? This is a great opportunity for you too.

Contact us today to see how Help to Buy could help you make your next move.

Help to Buy: Home Ownership Schemes Explained

Help to Buy Equity Loan

Q. Who is it for?

A. Homebuyers, who wish to purchase a new build property when they could not otherwise afford one in their area because they have an insufficient combination of the income and deposit needed to secure the level of mortgage required. These include First Time Buyers, trying to get onto the property ladder, and 'second-movers', needing to move up the ladder to a bigger home. These loans are not available for buy-to-let landlords or second home owners.

Q. Who is eligible – and for what types of property?

- Existing home owners and first time buyers
- Buyers with a minimum deposit of 5% of the purchase price
- Buyers who are borrowing from a participating lender
- Available in England on New Build properties up to £600,000, with similar schemes available in London, Scotland and Wales
- Residential property, where you plan to live in it and not rent it out
- Your only property, so you cannot have an interest in any other property, anywhere in the world

Q. How does it work?

A. You'll need to put down a deposit of at least 5% of the property price, the government will give you an equity loan for up to 20%, interest free for the first 5 years, and you'll need a mortgage of 75% to cover the rest. As a result of providing you with this assistance, the government is entitled to its money back, plus a share in the future sale proceeds equal to the percentage contribution it made to assist your purchase. This type of loan is known as a 'shared equity' mortgage.

Example

If the home in the graphic above sold for £250,000, making a £50,000 'profit', you'd get £200,000 (£150,000 from your mortgage, £10,000 cash deposit back and £40,000 as 80% share of the 'profit') and pay back £50,000 to the government (the £40,000 equity loan, plus an extra £10,000 as 20% share of the 'profit').

You'd need to pay off your mortgage with your share of the money.

Q. When will I have to pay back the Equity Loan?

A. The home will be in your name, which means you can sell it at any time. However, you'll have to pay back the Equity Loan when you sell your home or at the end of your mortgage term – whichever comes first. You can also pay back all or part of your Equity Loan without selling your home.

Q. Are there any fees for the Equity Loan?

A. You won't be charged loan fees for the first 5 years of owning your home. But in the 6th year, you will be charged a fee of 1.75% of the loan's value. After this, the fee will increase every year in line with inflation. The annual increase in the fees is worked out by using the Retail Prices Index (RPI) plus 1%. For instance, if the RPI is 5% at the end of Year 6 of your Equity Loan, the fee will increase by 6% from 1.75% in Year 6 to 1.86% in Year 7 (which is $1.75\% + (1.75\% \times 6\%) = 1.86\%$). Your mortgage adviser can provide you with a more detailed illustration when they help you with finding the right mortgage.

A Government-appointed Help to Buy agent will contact you to initiate a Direct Debit Mandate to pay the fees when they fall due. However, from the start of your Help to Buy Equity Loan there is a monthly management fee of £1 to pay, which is made via the Direct Debit arrangement. You'll also be sent a statement about your Equity Loan each year.

Q. What are the interest rates on the mortgage loan?

A. Lenders offer more competitive rates to borrowers with bigger deposits as they carry less risk. This scheme means that they are only lending 75% of the property value rather than 95% which means you will benefit from cheaper rates of interest than you would otherwise.

Q. For how long is it available?

A. The schemes in England, London and Wales will run until March 2021. The scheme in Scotland currently only runs until March 2019.

Your home may be repossessed if you do not keep up repayments on your mortgage.

There will be a fee for mortgage advice. The actual amount you pay will depend upon your circumstances.

The fee is up to 1% but a typical fee is 0.3% of the amount borrowed. enquiries@mab.org.uk